

AUID

The Association of University
Interior Designers

A community and resource for interior designers at institutions of higher education.

INSPIRE + INFORM + INVEST

ABOUT US!

Founded in 1979 after in-house designers at several midwestern universities found the need to communicate and share ideas. AUID now exists as a non-profit and robust community of designers collectively working to shape the higher education environment by continuing to refine and adapt for different classroom pedagogies, office designs, and generational needs of staff, faculty, and students.

WHY JOIN?

Designing for higher education is distinct and requires a balance of reliable, tested and proven solutions. This communal space fosters opportunities for connecting, sharing reputable resources, collaboration, and champions advancement both at the professional and student level.

INSPIRE: NETWORKING

COMRADERY + SUPPORT + INGENUITY

Connect with other designers from peer institutions. Each campus brand and experience are unique but the design perspective and challenges share a common thread.

INFORM: RESOURCES

LESSONS LEARNED + BEST PRACTICES

Have a challenging project or issue? Need inspiration or proven solutions? Poll other designers for resources, recommendations, and knowledge to solve problems innovatively.

INVEST: ADVANCEMENT

PROFESSIONAL + STUDENT

CEU opportunities are available for members. Additionally, scholarships are accessible to members who are pursuing professional accreditations and current students pursuing degree programs.
